NUCLEAR HOLOCAUST WORLD WAR III (And II)

Hugh Polley has provided me with the rules to NHWWIII which he wants to run as a guest GM in SK. They are on the next page.

As a prelude to this game he has started a smaller version called NHHWII using the same rules and a smaller map. This is an invitation game to test play the game. People are requested to become the game. People are requested to become alternates for this game by sending in orders for countries not confirmed. So far Germany, Russia and France are in.

The cost to players is 10 cents per season which I will deduct from your sub every 7 seasons.

NHWWII is a popular game in some zines in the US, where Hugh picked up on it.

NEWARK by HUGH R. POLLEY¹

The rules for WMD are the same as for WMO except WMD starts in 1939, was a different map, and has six players instead of nineteen.

The player with the most cash is the winner of 1997 unless the game is ended before this by WWB rules.

All players except Germany have approximately the same amount of oil and money. Germany starts the game with a $26,000 General, large amounts of oil, and money.

Q How do you keep little black boys from jumping up and down on the bed?
A: Put Velcro on the ceiling.
And now for one of my own....
Q: How can you tell that Adam and Eve weren't black?
A: Ever try to take a rib from a black man.

As soon as everyone has sent in his ballot the game will start.

ADJUDICATION SEQUENCE: Winter, Spring, Summer, Fall

Spring or Fall seasons

1. air moves (F-F, F-B, B-FB, AA fire, drops) per Area.
- 1a. S strikes in the following order (AFBSHTNCMPGY)
2. Sea & land units move
3. Air units land or crash
4. Bids & transport called for

Summer season

1. Bids & transport adjudicated
2. Taxes collected

Winter season

1. Bids & transport adjudicated
2. Oil & Gold processed
3. Maintenance paid
4. Builds made

AIR COMBAT Planes must meet in the same movement space to have combat. Each plane has a 50% chance of hitting another plane. First F fire at F then F fire at B then B fire at F & B

BIDS and COMBAT Any attacker who defeats an owner takes ownership of that area, unless another power occupying the area also defeat the owner and co-occupies the area. When this happens the area becomes neutral. Combat is solved as follows: Figure the attack value of all your units in that area, then submit a secret bid to the GM. The bid comes from the money in your account. Multiply the attack value by the bid and you have your combat value. The highest value between two enemies wins. If there are more than 2 countries in the area then each battle must be fought separately. Two zeroed bids create an even battle with no loss to either side. (see world bids & General)

CARGO HOLD A cargo hold may contain 5 S or 10 F or 16 L or 3 or 7 or 1 or A

In sea areas cargo is held by the group, and is not lost till there are more units than cargo holds

CIVIL DISORDER An imposed soy may send an area into civil disorder, and an area in this state can not move units, or transport units

CONTRACTS Contracts may be made on any subject except Generals and Soys. A contract must be assigned to a map area, and a Soy entering that area uncovered will reveal the substance of the contract to the world press. A country may cancel a contract if it is under attack by a party to the contract's General. No contract may be for a term longer than four years

DEMOLISH You may demolish units in the spring or fall.

INVESTMENTS Players may invest their income in areas they own. For each $1 invested, the area will return $.50. In other words, if you invest $1000 in an area, each summer you will receive $500 plus the original value of the area.

MAINTENANCE Fighters and Bombers plus all units with an attack value have a maintenance value. This value for units with an attack value is equivalent to there attack value. The maintenance value of F is (2), of B is (2). Maintenance is paid in the winter season. Each winter you must total the maintenance value of your units, and multiply this by $500, to get your yearly maintenance costs. If you do not have enough money in your account to pay for your units you may specify which are to be removed, or your most expensive units, furthest from home will be removed first MONEY Any amount of money may be given away in the winter or summer season.

ORDER WRITING You must state what your unit is, where it is, and what it is carrying, then where it is going and what it is doing
Example: SF/105-calli-bog(35)-(land)

PRESS Official press must use the authors countries name for its by-line.

Unofficial press may use any by-line other than a countries name. Press is limited to 25 words per player.

PROPOSALS If someone makes a proposal I like, it will be implemented after one years notice

SEA COMBAT Only N & C attack values are used to calculate combat values in sea areas

SURRENDER No territories may be sold to another power. However a power under attack may surrender one or all of his territories to an attacking power. Should a player quits the game his territories become neutral powers.

TAXES Each summer you will receive an income equal to the value of all the areas you own.

TRANSPORT You may transport (T.S.M.U.P) from any S, $ or # area you own through areas you occupy and have bid zero in. You may transport units into an area you do not occupy but not out of that area. If someone else owns that area he immediately takes possession of these units. If the area is empty you take possession of it

WORLD BIDS You may add to a players bid by placing a world bid in his favor (see bids & combat) This will be unknown to all the players. They will know someone put in money, but they won't know who. A world bid will be returned if both countries bid $2

UNIT DESCRIPTIONS

AIRCRAFT CARRIER It is like a navy, except it can hold up to 20 planes at a time

BOMBER A bomber can move 4 areas per turn. Planes can only land on S, $ or C. Bombs can be loaded at any time and bombers may be nationalized

BOMBS They can be dropped from planes or fired at planes. S has a 50% chance of hitting its target. On the ground S destroys units in the following order - A, F, B, S, M, T, & C, N, L, A, G, & H. A hit by a single explosive S destroys all F in a land area PROPOSALS This unit may be delivered from a bomber. They live in the time combat phase as bombs and on the ground they are just like units. Spring Each country will have one soy unit, and it may be ordered to one of three things: reveal contracts, create civil disorder, or defend against other soys. A soy may be ordered directly to any area on the map. A soy is considered against a defending soy on a General. Any A soy who is from one adjacent land area to another. A soy may move five zones per turn. A soy has unlimited capability.

GOLD All resources areas will produce one gold bar every two years. Gold islands will contain unnumbered Gold Bars. Any player successfully entering and leaving a Gold Island may take gold with his units. PROPOSALS Any power with an income of more than 500000 dollars may build nuclear missiles in 45 areas on the winter season. Any area hit by a missile has all units there destroyed and becomes a non-productive area. PROPOSALS Any power from one adjacent sea or forest land area to another may build aircraft capability. OIL and PETROL In winter oil can be changed to petrol in S, $ and # areas. They can not come with oil sealed in the area they start from. OIL BIDS Any power can only be made in an oil region. That power can Fighter A Fighter can move 6 zones per turn. Fighters carry 4 S only. They must land by the 5th space or crash. They can land on #, $, or C. Bombs can be loaded at any time. Fighters may be nationalized. COMBAT Every time a General wins a bidding combat his value goes up by $10,000. If a General is killed his value goes back to 1000 dollars, and he is revealed in a # area. If that country dies and own a # area, the player is out of the game. After a winning loss a General loses half his value. So long as he can retreat to an adjacent Area, he will be alive at all. Better. So long as a player has a General he remains in the game. The General is not affected by contracts, and this unit doesn't destroy anything.

Two little kids aged 6 and 8, decide it's time to learn how to swear. So the 8 year old says to the 6 year old, "OK you say 'Ass' and I'll say 'Hell!'" All excited about their plan, they troop down to the kitchen where their mother asks them what they want for breakfast. "Aw Hell," says the 8 year old. "Give me some Cheerios."
His mother backhands him off the stool, sending him bawling out the room, and turns to the younger brother.
"What'll you have?" "I dunno" quavers the 6 year old. "But you can bet your Ass it aint gonna be Cheerios!"

BASEBALL QUIZ answers

BASEBALL QUIZ answers (1) Williams-521 and Musial -475 career HR's. (2) If you get on base on an error it is an official "At Bat". (3) Ty Cobb had the most consecutive .300 seasons. (4) False! That year the Mets finished last with a 66-96 record. (5) Players to have a .400 season: Nap Lajoie, Shoeless Joe Jackson, Ty Cobb, George Sizler, Hornsby, Harry Heilmann, Bill Terry, Ted Williams. (6) TRUE. Sandy Koufax did not win more than 11 games in 1st-8th seasons. (7) NO. An inside-the-park-Home-run cannot be made as a result of an error. (8) 5 innings unless the home time is winning, then 4½. (9) A player may not run around the bases backwards. ((At least not on a Home Run))

The rule was passed in 1963 when Jimmy Piersall ran around the bases backwards to win a bet that he would get more publicity for his 100th homerun than for the other player's 300th. (10) NO. A sacrifice fly does not count as an "at bat". (John Caruso adds: it does count as an appearance at the plate for determining batting leader))

There was a tie between Errol Platt and Rob Winslow with 10 so rolling my trusty dice I get...ta da...2 free issues to Errol and 1 to Rob. Others to answer were: John Caruso 8, Kathy Byrne 7, Claude Gautron 6, Jack Jung 7, Mark Keller 7. The present total for all-time number of issues won is: Cohen 16, Tro+G Mills 9, Torres+Caruso 5, Platt+Schilling+Winslow 4, sampson+Ashley 3, Jung 2.

A couple of points here (1) A run has to score for a "Sacrifice Fly" to be considered a Sacrifice Fly. Merely advancing the runner from 2nd-3rd is not a Sacrifice fly. (2) In question 9 I did not state that it referred only to Home Runs so I was forced to accept both YES and NO as the only 'fair' thing to do.

Woody: Keith Mercer and I had a great time with your caruck friends at ORGINS. Before we went to your room we called and said, "This is Kevin from the front desk and you'll have to hold the noise down!" When we got to your room everyone was leaving! We were afraid to tell anyone as I thought Rich might take us apart. The party moved to the hotel patio and we had a great time without you.

TSAR TREK

The Motion Sickness

Part two

The dazzling light source remained perfectly motionless in the centre of the room, sniffing the air eagerly as it searched for the source of the seductive pheromones. Kirk ordered Spock to take readings. At the very second that he raised the tricorder to the light, it shot out a crackling column of raw, hissing energy. Spock instantly lobbed the tricorder to Decker. Before he could collect his thought, the bolt shuffled over to him and blew off his lower legs and portions of his pelvis.

"Nice catch," Spock giggled as Decker suddenly dropped two feet closer to the ground. He jumped around furiously as he tried to butt out his smoldering stumps.

"No smoking on the bridge!" Kirk snapped. "And report for bookend duty." Before Decker could douse his legs, the energy source located the voluptuous Deltan and swept her off into space. Bowels all over the ship breathed a sigh of relief.

"What did you make of that?" Kirk asked Spock.

"Uncertain, Captain. I require further data before I make a report," Spock answered. Kirk became livid with rage.

"You're a goddamn science officer, Spock. If you don't have an answer, then make one up!" he bellowed.

"An incredibly dense field of super-high energy plasma bound together by immense magnetodynamic force lines, of a type unknown in the galaxy," Spock shoved, not sure where he'd heard so much bullshit before.

"Prove it," Kirk ordered. Spock stared blankly. "I can't..." he said sheepishly.

"You pointy-eared lying son of a bitch," Kirk shouted. "Get out there and find what it is." Then he hammered his fist down on the communications panel and told the Transporter room, "Spock is going for a recon assignment. Beam him out immediately. And send him a spacesuit when you locate one. Kirk out."

Kirk stared at Spock who was standing in a large pool of urine. "Seat!" he hissed and Spock scampered away on all fours.

Some minutes later, Spock stood in the transporter room and received minute instructions from Rand.

"Remember, take a real deep breath, and don't forget your Outer Space Kit. It comes with everything you see right here... Flashlight, nylons, string, comic books, chocolate bar and some Midol. And don't worry, I'll ship you out in a spacesuit just as soon as the ship arrives from Starfleet. You see, I couldn't have spacesuits and color television for the captain's gerbils. I had to cut costs somewhere," Rand explained. Spock started to cry, but Rand beamed him away before he lost all of his self-respect.

Instantly, Spock found himself in the now familiar bone-numbing cold of outer space. And there before him

STARS RATINGS: From the desk of Bern Sampson we get the S.T.A.R.S. Ratings. STARS stands for Sampson Totally Awesome Rating System. I'll let Bern explain.....

STARS is a cumulative point-count system, similar to the CPC and MCPC systems, only points are awarded on a decimal basis: 1 point for a win, .5 points for a share in a 2-way draw, .33 points for a share in a 3-way draw, etc. Points are awarded to individuals who win or draw in both original and standby positions. In order to be included in the STARS rating, a game must satisfy 4 criteria. One, the game must be assigned a Boardman Number. Two, the results must be published in EVERYTHING, the official publication of the Boardman Number Custodian (BNC). Three, the results must not be noted as 'irregular' in any manner by the BNC. Lastly, at least 5 game years must have been completed (through F05).

STARS is a current rating system. By that, I mean that only the most current 5 years worth of games will be included in the STARS system, the initial period being 1979-1983. Thus, all games designated 1979xx through 1983xx will be included. When the first 1984 game result is published in EVERYTHING, all 1979 games will be dropped from the STARS system. In this way, STARS will always represent current performances in the Diplomacy hobby.

CIVIL RIGHTS &
BRITISH COLUMBIA

This last month has seen the recently elected Socreds try to bring their government spending under control. The one area where they keyed on was in Social Welfare, where they have started a cutback program by arbitrarily firing a set percentage of their civil servants.

Their strongarm tactics has united the opposition of Labour, NDP, Church and Civil Libertarians. While I don't totally agree with the tactics of the Socreds government I do recognize the fact that strong measures were necessary in order to bring restraint back to the civil service. The money saved in these cutbacks can be reinvested in the local economies, boosting the lumber, fishing and mining industries.

The Social Welfare sector is the obvious choice for any government where cutbacks have to be made. A healthy economy can support increased social services, but British Columbia does not have a strong economy. If these cutbacks are combined with increased government incentives to the Lumber, mining and fishing industries when the British Columbia economy may begin to recover. If this happens it will be interesting to see how those outraged citizens vote come the next election. The Socreds timing was very good, they've got another 3 years to wait for the people to forget.

SPERM FROM SPACE

University of Toronto Police have been swamped by a rash of complaints from female students claiming that they became pregnant inexplicably, all within a twenty-four period. The Engineering Society denied any knowledge of this.

On the night in question an unexplained meteor shower was observed at David Dunlop Observatory, and it is thought that these meteorites were, in fact, sperm from space.

ACNE Novelty Inc. has already filed for rights to a video game based on this episode.
